As many as 170 women entrepreneurs and professionals from 10 pan India chapters of FICCI FLO are in the Pink City to connect and build bridges for sustainable development by promoting women entrepreneurs and professionals. The theme of the two-day meet, which started on Monday, is Convergence 2014: Meeting of minds — women leading change.

"The entrepreneurs and professionals from Chennai, Mumbai, Hyderabad, Kolkata, Coimbatore, Ludhiana, North East, Ahmedabad and Bengaluru would be sharing ideas in order to establish strong business networks," said Neeta Boochra, the national president of FICCI FLO.

The inter-state meet was inaugurated by Nirmal Nahta, Jaipur mayor, who said that women of substance should inspire others in developing wisdom to lead. He hoped that an event of such dimension would help in educating and empowering women of not only Jaipur, but of the entire state.

The heads of various chapters spoke about their deeds and most of them talked about how the chapters are actively participating in Modi's Swachh Bharat Abhiyaan.

Many chapters are also helping women in acquiring skills that would improve their lives and give them a good living. Also, various stalls are put up that have jewellery, handicraft items and textiles on offer.
